A SPECIAL TRAIN MADE THE FIRST TRIP, AND IN THE AFTERNOON TEN MINUTES HEADWAY WAS THE RULE-LINES TO BE ADDED

TO THE SERVICE THIS WEEK. The Brooklyn Elevated Railroad began runing its trains over the Bridge yesterday, and in a few days it will be prepared to accommodate its passengers who travel on the Lexington-ave. and Fifth-ave, lines. Yesterday the only trains running were those to Sheepshead Bay and Manhattan Bench and the service down to the shore was continued in the afternoon hours. The first train to make the trip was a special whose passengers were specially invited guests. city officials and railroad men. The ich was of five cars, left the Manhattan nal of the Bridge at 11:30 o'clock and went directly through to Manhattan Beach, where luncheon was served. On the return several members of the party stopped off at the Sheepshead Bay racetrack. Among the guests on the first trip were ex-Wurster, of Brooklyn; William Berri, Chief Engineer C. C. Martin of the Bridge, Po-Commissioner B. J. York, President Clinton Rossiter of the Bracklyn Heights Railroad. L. Rossier of the Colonel John N. Partridge Eldward Lauterbach, Justice Dugro, Justice Feitner, Tom L. Johnson, Otto Huber, John H. Burtis and Scinator McCarty. The running time from Park Row to the Beach was thirty-seven minutes. Receiver Uhlnd Engineer Barton of the Brooklyn "L."

e the hosts, are regular passenger service began at noon, was continued under a ten-minute head. The route was over the usual lines of the aklyn "L" service. The service continued is o'clock, and the road's business was expended.

until 6 o'clock, and the road's business was excellent on the trips down, as well as on the trips back from the races.

To-day the road will begin its service over the Bridge, with its Lexington-ave and Fifth-ave, cars. The headway at first will be about thirty minutes, but this will be reduced as soon as possible, which will be before the end of the week. Soon afterward the Myrtle-ave, line will be added to those which will be repremental on the Bridge. sented on the Bridge.

PARK ROW TO THE BEACH | HAPPY AT CHICKAMAUGA.

MEN OF THE FOURTEENTH REGIMENT SAID TO BE WELL CARED FOR.

OFFICERS RETURN TO THIS CITY TO RECRUIT THREE HUNDRED MORE MEN-MONEY SCARCE, BUT FOOD PLENTIFUL.

Quartermaster Logue, of Company D. 14th Regiment, stationed at Chickamauga, met many friends in the Municipal Building Thursday, and was greeted by them with all the arder that is gallant regiment. He is in Brooklyn with Lieutenants Bridgetts, McNamara and Wingate for the purpose of getting three hundred recruits. It is expected that he will take back with him a number of old 13th men, who wanted to go ou on the first call. The 14th left the city with twelve companies of eighty-two men each, and it will be recruited at opce to twelve companies of 103 men each.

Quartermaster Logue was seen by a Tribune reporter while he was chatting with friends in the Municipal Building, and had a number of interesting things to say,

"The 14th boys are happy as clams," said he and if you hear anything to the contrary, just don't believe it. Please say in The Tribune that there is no foundation for the stories that there and there is plenty of it. Every man gets a load of fresh bread every day. Soldiers in the Civil War, I'm told, didn't get fresh bread once a year. The bacon and beans and vegetables that we receive are just the sort of fare to make men strong and capable of standing fatigue. most of us realize that we are down there to fight, and not to criticise the rations, even if there were room for it. I want to register a kick, however, against the Southern Railway system that the boys travel over to reach in Antique Oak. Very strong and durable. Chickamauga. They are the worst that ever When we were worn out with fatigue they would not let us turn the seats.

"Some newspapers are making a heap of trou ble down there. Many of the men write confidential letters home, and some of these get into print in a wildly exaggerated shape. The officers call the men up and want to know what they mean by telling lies about the life in camp, and the men have great difficulty in explaining The discipline in the 14th is first rate. No one in Company D has as yet lodged a night in the the shade. There have been remarkably few prostrations from the heat among the Northern men as yet. I wish you would say in The Tribune that if the friends of the soldiers send them any dainties, they will be received safely. I was never so hard up financially in the world as since I have been down there. I don't know what a dollar would look like to me to-day if I should see one rolling down the street. It would indeed look like a 'carr wheel' that we in my pocket all the way home. My wife's got two cents of it, and she's going to keep them as

The State owes us wages from 15, and the National Government owes us from May 16 to the present time. It seems to me that there is unnecessary delay in paying the wages of the soldiers, but no doubt there is good reason for it. The water at the camp is good now. At first it was poor, but pipes have been laid on ton of the ground from a distant creek, and is expected that the cornerstone will be present at the cornerstone take back."

The quartermaster had with him a beautiful gavel for ex-Senator William H. Beynolds, of Brooklyn. It was made from laurel wood grow. Brooklyn. It was made from laurel wood growing on Lookout Mountain, and Quartermaster Logue said that one or two men in camp were making good money from the sale of these handmade gaveis. He said the woods were full of snakes and lizards, who did their utmost to share their sleeping accommodations with the men, but that the snakes did not lite.
